

The Gabelli Global Rising Income and Dividend Fund

Shareholder Commentary
March 31, 2018

To Our Shareholders,

For the quarter ended March 31, 2018, the net asset value (“NAV”) per Class AAA Share of The Gabelli Global Rising Income and Dividend Fund decreased 1.9% compared with an increase of 2.1% for the ICE Bank of America Merrill Lynch Global 300 Convertible Index and a decrease of 1.3% for and the Morgan Stanley Capital International (“MSCI”) World Index, respectively. Other classes of shares are available. See page 2 for performance information for all classes.

First Quarter Commentary

January 2018 saw the stock market continue its near uninterrupted climb, but volatility finally returned with a sharp decline in February and continued choppiness in March, leading to major averages posting their first quarterly declines since 2015. Economic fundamentals continued to be largely positive - synchronous global growth, low unemployment, corporate profits boosted by tax reform and lower personal taxes for many Americans – but a new set of worries came to the fore for investors already uneasy about stretched valuations: trade wars, regulatory risks in the technology sector, and the U.S. Federal Reserve’s gradual liquidity reduction and rising policy rate, plus the prospect for the same from the European Central Bank.

There are many moving pieces for the market to digest in real-time, and thus many unanswered questions – whether the $100 billion-plus trade tariffs are simply negotiating tactics, how aggressive Congress will be on data privacy and business models, how quickly inflation will come back, and how aggressively the Federal Reserve will raise rates to stay ahead of it. The most demanding question to be answered is how much trouble can the markets withstand at once? In isolation, current headwinds seem manageable as long as fundamentals remain the priority. Rising uncertainties may keep the stock market on edge, but corporate profit growth, aggressive corporate stock buybacks, and deals should provide a cushion for any selloffs.

As always, our job as analysts and portfolio managers is to sift through the noise and buy a portfolio of strong businesses at attractive prices. Many excellent companies are now available at cheaper valuations than three months ago, a situation we welcome as value investors. While deal activity slowed in 2017 largely to due to uncertainty over tax policy, we believe that the acceleration of merger and acquisition (M&A) in the first quarter is a harbinger of things to come. With our Private Market Value with a Catalyst™ methodology, we believe (y)our Fund is uniquely positioned to benefit from increased deal activity.

The actual performance of the Class A Shares and Class C Shares would have been lower due to the additional fees and expenses associated with these classes of shares. The actual performance of the Class I Shares would have been higher due to lower expenses related to this class of shares. Deals, Deals & More Deals Global merger and acquisition activity accelerated to a record $1.2 trillion in the first quarter of this year, up 60% compared to the first quarter of 2017, following the passage of U.S. tax reform and a boost from the catalyst of shareholder activists. CEOs are initiating major transactions sparked by excess cash and the goal of growing the top and bottom line. Overall, 11,136 worldwide deals were announced during the quarter, down 11% from a year ago, indicating that mega deals are driving transaction value. We anticipate that volume of deals will accelerate as the year goes on and small and mid-cap companies will participate in the M&A upswing.

We believe the ingredients of a robust M&A environment – low cost of financing, synergy-driven industry consolidation, and the availability of many new pure-play companies due to financial engineering – continue to be in place, and visibility on tax policy removes a major impediment to deal activity.

Conclusion

Market volatility, long overdue, is back. As active stock pickers, this is the kind of environment for us to prove our mettle. Risks remain as always, but we also have an opportunity to buy many businesses at more attractive prices than we could just a few months ago, and we plan to take advantage of any opportunity “Mr. Market” provides us. We continue to seek high quality companies trading at a discount to Private Market Value – the price an informed industrialist would pay to own an entire business – and look for catalysts to surface value, such as industry consolidation, financial engineering, new management, regulatory changes, or a change in cash flow allocation.

Let's Talk Stocks

The following are stock specifics on selected holdings of (y)our Fund. Favorable earnings prospects do not necessarily translate into higher stock prices, but they do express a positive trend that we believe will develop over time. Individual securities mentioned are not necessarily representative of the entire portfolio. For the following holdings, the share prices are listed first in United States dollars (USD) and second in the local currency, where applicable, and are presented as of March 31, 2018.

Citigroup Inc. (1.4% of net assets as of March 31, 2018) (C – $67.50 – NYSE) is a leading global bank, with approximately 100 million customer accounts. The firm conducts business in more than 100 countries and jurisdictions. Citigroup provides consumers, corporations, governments, and institutions with a broad range of financial products and services, including consumer banking and credit, corporate and investment banking, securities brokerage, transaction services, and wealth management. The firm is well positioned to capitalize on the growth of global personal wealth.

CNH Industrial NV (2.7%) (CNHI – $12.40/€10.03 – NYSE/Borsa Italiana) with headquarters in London, England, and Burr Ridge, Illinois, is a global capital equipment manufacturer that was demerged from parent Fiat in 2013. CNHI is unique in that it has leading positions in a variety of global machinery markets. It is best known for its agricultural equipment business, consisting of Case IH, New Holland Agriculture, and Steyr brands. The company's other businesses include Iveco, a leading global truck and bus manufacturer, as well as Case and New Holland construction machinery. Finally, FPT Industrial provides engines and transmissions for the company's captive businesses and also sells to other machinery manufacturers. CNHI is well positioned, not only for a cyclical recovery in its agricultural and equipment end markets, but also for significant cash flow generation in the years ahead.

Davide Campari-Milano Spa (1.4%) (CPR – $7.57/€6.15 – Borsa Italiana) is a leading beverage company headquartered in Sesto San Giovanni, Italy. The company was founded in 1860, and is currently the sixth largest player worldwide in the premium spirits industry. Its sizeable portfolio spans spirits (the core business) and sparkling wines; with brands including Aperol, Appleton, Campari, Cinzano, SKYY Vodka, and Wild Turkey among others. Recently, the company acquired Grand Marnier liqueur in its largest acquisition in years, further strengthening its position in premium cocktail spirits. Campari's growth strategy aims to combine organic growth through strong brand building with shareholder value enhancing acquisitions, focusing on strong, niche brands that will enhance the company's critical mass in key markets.

Diageo plc (1.2%) (DEO – $135.42 – NYSE) is the leading global producer of alcoholic beverages, with brands including Smirnoff, Johnny Walker, Ketel One, Captain Morgan, Crown Royal, J&B, Baileys, Tanqueray, and Guinness. The company has a balanced geographic presence in both mature and emerging markets, and it benefits from the trend of consumers around the world trading up to premium products. Over the past several years, Diageo made acquisitions that enhanced its presence in emerging markets: a majority stake in United Spirits, the leading spirits producer in India; Mey Icki, the leading spirits company in Turkey; Shui Jing Fang, a leading Chinese baiju producer; Ypioca, the leading cachaca producer in Brazil; and an increased stake in Halico, the leading domestic spirits producer in Vietnam. While economic conditions in emerging markets have created headwinds for some of these investments recently, the long term fundamentals of the spirits industry remain very favorable, and Diageo will be one of the largest beneficiaries of industry growth.

National Grid Plc (1.2%) (NGG – $56.43 – NYSE) based in London, England, is an electricity and gas utility company focused on transmission and distribution activities in electricity and gas in both the United Kingdom (39% of assets) and the U.S. (35%). The company's segments include U.K. Electricity Transmission, which is engaged in high voltage electricity transmission networks in Great Britain; U.K. Gas Transmission, which is the gas transmission network in Great Britain and United Kingdom liquefied natural gas (LNG) storage activities; U.K. Gas Distribution, which includes four of the eight regional networks of Great Britain's gas distribution system, and U.S. Regulated, which includes gas distribution networks, electricity distribution networks and high voltage electricity transmission networks in New York, and New England and electricity generation facilities in New York.

Remy Cointreau (2.8%) (RCO – $142.48/€115.80 – Paris Stock Exchange) is a manufacturer and distributor of distilled spirits, most notably Cognac, which it sells globally. The company's advantaged portfolio is made up almost entirely of brands that sell at premium price points and includes Remy Martin, one of the largest and highest priced cognac brands in the world, Cointreau triple sec, Mount Gay rum, and Bruichladdich single malt Scotch whisky, among others. In recent years, the company successfully navigated the market shock caused by anti-extravagance measures enacted by the Chinese government, and has worked to further premiumize its portfolio by focusing on the rapidly growing ultra-premium spirits market. Additionally, the company has benefited from resurgence in the popularity of Cognac in the United States, and has grown its brands even faster than the rapidly expanding market. We expect Remy Cointreau to continue to benefit from long-term positive trends in the global spirit industry.

Rogers Communications Inc. (1.3%) (RCI – $44.68 – NYSE), headquartered in Toronto, Ontario, is a diversified communications and media company that owns the largest national wireless service provider in Canada (serving 10.5 million customers), the largest Canadian cable MSO (serving 1.7 million video customers, 2.2 million broadband connections, and 1.1 million phone subscribers), and a media business that includes TV and radio broadcasting, publishing, and sports (representing over 50% of media revenues; includes ownership of the Toronto Blue Jays baseball club and 37.5% investment in Maple Leaf Sports & Entertainment (owner of the Toronto Maple Leafs, Toronto Raptors and Toronto FC), etc.). RCI continues to follow Rogers 3.0 – strategic plan initiated in mid-2014 and focused on re-accelerating growth in a sustainable way and continuing the company’s track record of translating revenue into strong margins and free cash flow, a solid return on assets, and ultimately increasing returns to shareholders. In January 2018, Rogers reported essentially in-line for the fourth quarter of 2017 revenues and Adjusted Operating Profit as well as somewhat weaker than expected postpaid net additions (largely due to elevated churn – a result of heightened competitive intensity in the fourth quarter, particularly during the holiday season). On April 19, 2017, the company completed the CEO transition process that was initially announced in October 2016, as Joe Natale officially joined Rogers as President and CEO, after a confidential agreement was reached with TELUS Corporation to secure his early arrival. Mr. Natale was most recently President and CEO of TELUS, leaving the company in August of 2015.

Vodafone Group (1.6%) (VOD – $27.82 – NASDAQ) is one of the world’s largest telecommunications companies. Vodafone has mobile operations in 26 countries, partners with mobile networks in 48 more, and fixed broadband operations in 19 markets. As of December 31, 2017, Vodafone had 529 million mobile customers and 19.3 million fixed broadband customers. The company’s European operations have delivered three consecutive quarters of positive mobile service revenue growth following years of declines. The combination of mix improvement, a better pricing environment, and diminishing regulatory price impacts have contributed to the turnaround. Vodafone has also made great strides in European fixed services, being the leading gainer of broadband users over the past two years. In India, the merger with Idea Cellular is expected imminently. This will effectively create a 3-player market in the country with Vodafone’s venture as the largest operator in a still-underdeveloped market. Vodafone is engaged in discussions with Liberty Global regarding possible acquisition of the latter’s cable operations in continental Europe, most notably Unitymedia in Germany. While there is no assurance of this deal being agreed, the combination would generate substantial operating synergies and uniquely position an enlarged Vodafone in German convergence services. Vodafone is attractively valued at 6.2x March 2019 EBITDA with a current return of 6.3%.

The Gabelli Global Rising Income and Dividend Fund Notes to Schedule of Investments (Unaudited)

As an investment company, the Fund follows the investment company accounting and reporting guidance, which is part of U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (“GAAP”) that may require the use of management estimates and assumptions in the preparation of its schedule of investments. Actual results could differ from those estimates. The following is a summary of significant accounting policies followed by the Fund in the preparation of its schedule of investments.

Security Valuation. Portfolio securities listed or traded on a nationally recognized securities exchange or traded in the U.S. over-the-counter market for which market quotations are readily available are valued at the last quoted sale price or a market’s official closing price as of the close of business on the day the securities are being valued. If there were no sales that day, the security is valued at the average of the closing bid and asked prices or, if there were no asked prices quoted on that day, then the security is valued at the closing bid price on that day. If no bid or asked prices are quoted on such day, the security is valued at the most recently available price or, if the Board of Directors (the “Board”) so determines, by such other method as the Board shall determine in good faith to reflect its fair market value. Portfolio securities traded on more than one national securities exchange or market are valued according to the broadest and most representative market, as determined by Gabelli Funds, LLC (the “Adviser”).

Portfolio securities primarily traded on a foreign market are generally valued at the preceding closing values of such securities on the relevant market, but may be fair valued pursuant to procedures established by the Board if market conditions change significantly after the close of the foreign market, but prior to the close of business on the day the securities are being valued. Debt obligations for which market quotations are readily available are valued at the average of the latest bid and asked prices. If there were no asked prices quoted on such day, the security is valued using the closing bid price. Such debt obligations are valued through prices provided by a pricing service approved by the Board. Certain securities are valued principally using dealer quotations.

Securities and assets for which market quotations are not readily available are fair valued as determined by the Board. Fair valuation methodologies and procedures may include, but are not limited to: analysis and review of available financial and non-financial information about the company; comparisons with the valuation and changes in valuation of similar securities, including a comparison of foreign securities with the equivalent U.S. dollar value American Depositary Receipt securities at the close of the U.S. exchange; and evaluation of any other information that could be indicative of the value of the security.

The inputs and valuation techniques used to measure fair value of the Fund’s investments are summarized into three levels as described in the hierarchy below:

- Level 1 — quoted prices in active markets for identical securities;
- Level 2 — other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, etc.); and
- Level 3 — significant unobservable inputs (including the Board’s determinations as to the fair value of investments).

The Gabelli Global Rising Income and Dividend Fund

A financial instrument's level within the fair value hierarchy is based on the lowest level of any input both individually and in the aggregate that is significant to the fair value measurement. The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities. The summary of the Fund's investments in securities by inputs used to value the Fund's investments as of March 31, 2018 is as follows:

	Level 1 Quoted Prices	Level 2 Other Significant Observable Inputs	Level 3 Significant Unobservable Inputs	Total Market Value at 3/31/18

Additional Information to Evaluate Qualitative Information.

General. The Fund uses recognized industry pricing services – approved by the Board and unaffiliated with the Adviser – to value most of its securities, and uses broker quotes provided by market makers of securities not valued by these and other recognized pricing sources. Several different pricing feeds are received to value domestic equity securities, international equity securities, preferred equity securities, and fixed income securities. The data within these feeds are ultimately sourced from major stock exchanges and trading systems where these securities trade. The prices supplied by external sources are checked by obtaining quotations or actual transaction prices from market participants. If a price obtained from the pricing source is deemed unreliable, prices will be sought from another pricing service or from a broker/dealer that trades that security or similar securities.

Fair Valuation. Fair valued securities may be common and preferred equities, warrants, options, rights, or fixed income obligations. Where appropriate, Level 3 securities are those for which market quotations are not available, such as securities not traded for several days, or for which current bids are not available, or which are restricted as to transfer. When fair valuing a security, factors to consider include recent prices of comparable securities that are publicly traded, reliable prices of securities not publicly traded, the use of valuation models, current analyst reports, valuing the income or cash flow of the issuer, or cost if the preceding factors do not apply. A significant change in the unobservable inputs could result in a lower or higher value in Level 3 securities. The circumstances of Level 3 securities are frequently monitored to determine if fair valuation measures continue to apply.

The Adviser reports quarterly to the Board the results of the application of fair valuation policies and procedures. These may include backtesting the prices realized in subsequent trades of these fair valued securities to fair values previously recognized.

Securities Sold Short. The Fund may enter into short sale transactions. Short selling involves selling securities that may or may not be owned and, at times, borrowing the same securities for delivery to the purchaser, with an obligation to replace such borrowed securities at a later date. The proceeds received from short sales are recorded as liabilities and the Fund records an unrealized gain or loss to the extent of the difference between the proceeds received and the value of an open short position on the day of determination. The Fund records a realized gain or loss when the short position is closed out. By entering into a short sale, the Fund bears the market risk of an unfavorable change in the price of the security sold short. Dividends on short sales are recorded as an expense by the Fund on the ex-dividend date and interest expense is recorded on the accrual basis. The broker retains collateral for the value of the open positions, which is adjusted periodically as the value of the position fluctuates. At March 31, 2018, there were no short sales outstanding.

Foreign Currency Translations. The books and records of the Fund are maintained in U.S. dollars. Foreign currencies, investments, and other assets and liabilities are translated into U.S. dollars at current exchange rates. Purchases and sales of investment securities, income, and expenses are translated at the exchange rate prevailing on the respective dates of such transactions. Unrealized gains and losses that result from changes in foreign exchange rates and/or changes in market prices of securities have been included in unrealized appreciation/depreciation on investments and foreign currency translations. Net realized foreign currency gains and losses resulting from changes in exchange rates include foreign currency gains and losses between trade date and settlement date on investment securities transactions, foreign currency transactions, and the difference between the amounts of interest and dividends recorded on the books of the Fund and the amounts actually received. The portion of foreign currency gains and losses related to fluctuation in exchange rates between the initial purchase trade date and subsequent sale trade date is included in realized gain/(loss) on investments.

Foreign Securities. The Fund may directly purchase securities of foreign issuers. Investing in securities of foreign issuers involves special risks not typically associated with investing in securities of U.S. issuers. The risks include possible revaluation of currencies, the inability to repatriate funds, less complete financial information about companies, and possible future adverse political and economic developments. Moreover, securities of many foreign issuers and their markets may be less liquid and their prices more volatile than those of securities of comparable U.S. issuers.

Foreign Taxes. The Fund may be subject to foreign taxes on income, gains on investments, or currency repatriation, a portion of which may be recoverable. The Fund will accrue such taxes and recoveries as applicable, based upon its current interpretation of tax rules and regulations that exist in the markets in which it invests.

Restricted Securities. The Fund may invest up to 15% of its net assets in securities for which the markets are restricted. Restricted securities include securities whose disposition is subject to substantial legal or contractual restrictions. The sale of restricted securities often requires more time and results in higher brokerage charges or dealer discounts and other selling expenses than does the sale of securities eligible for trading on national securities exchanges or in the over-the-counter markets. Restricted securities may sell at a price lower than similar securities that are not subject to restrictions on resale. Securities freely saleable among qualified institutional investors under special rules adopted by the SEC may be treated as liquid if they satisfy liquidity standards established by the Board. The continued liquidity of such securities is not as well assured as that of publicly traded securities, and accordingly the Board will monitor their liquidity. At March 31, 2018, the Fund held no restricted securities.
